

Proposed Citywide Cat Program

Welcome to the
Environmental Impact Report (EIR) scoping meeting

CEQA Environmental Review Process

Proposed Project Elements

Funding-

A Modified Trap, Neuter, Return (TNR) Program will provide vouchers for the spaying and neutering of free-roaming cats (feral or stray) to be returned where they are found.

Code changes-

will allow free-roaming cats to qualify for spay and neuter funding subsidies and amend the municipal code to allow up to five cats per household with certain restrictions.

Public education-

The City's Department of Animal Services will provide information on any animal related topic, including free-roaming cats; City facilities will distribute literature and provide educational programming.

Implementation-

will occur primarily through six City animal shelters and through collaborative relationships with organizations engaged in TNR.

Potential Environmental Issues

As part of the EIR, the following environmental issues will be studied in more detail:

- Aesthetics
- Air Quality
- Biological Resources
- Cultural Resources
- Geology
- Greenhouse Gases
- Hazards
- Water Quality
- Land Use & Planning
- Noise
- Public Services
- Recreation
- Transportation & Traffic
- Public Utilities

Potential Environmental Issues

Biological Resources:

Cats are predators. Free-roaming cats may impact native and protected populations of birds, rodents, and other prey.

Public Health:

Free-roaming cats may create public health concerns, including fleas and parasites that may be transferred to humans.

Water Quality:

Cat feces may pollute runoff that can cause contamination of water bodies.
